

WANTED! STARTUP CO-FOUNDER

The Tavern is looking for a Co-Founder (Chief Technology Officer) to embark on a never before achieved technological adventure.

We use some of the latest Unreal Engine 5 magic in a web-based SaaS product that millions of Pen & Paper fans across the Realms will enjoy. For months, we have been evaluating the technical and financial viability in our laboratory, and things are looking very promising! But many more challenges will be encountered soon, and we need you to join our party to overcome them!

You have reached level 10+ in your professional career, are truly passionate about Pen & Paper Games, can summon your forces remotely for 2+ days per week during the next months, and can imagine going full time as soon as financing is secured?

Then roll for initiative and send an email with a short intro & your LinkedIn profile to hello@thetavern.online In a video call we'll get to know each other, tell you more about the adventure and show you our latest prototype.

Join like-minded fellows and become the mighty hero that summons our cloud infrastructure, takes care of mixing our web app potions and integrates stripe & other third party magic. A bag of holding full of unique technological encounters beyond the typical SaaS stack is waiting for you to explore! On this quest you can create your own, never before cast spells & fighting style to make the Tavern the most legendary place in the Realms. Visit www.thetavern.online for more information.

Marvelous advice: Party members benefit from your shared knowledge and gain a +3 bonus on intelligence and wisdom checks when you're around or if you can be reached out to via the slackonian message service.

All-Nighter: You possess dozens of magic potions made of black beans and red bullywog water that'll keep you awake all night. You need a long rest after using this ability.

ACTIONS

Control the Clouds: You have godlike powers to control the clouds all over the world. Spectators need to succeed on a DC16 saving throw or become stunned.

True Vision: A quick bonus action allows you to gaze into the feature and give your party valuable insights on which paths to wander and which planes to explore to seize major loot for the Taverns community.
